

Chapter VI: E.D. the ExtraDimensional

Guardian Moon left a strange message for Alex and Steve. Their assumptions were supposedly true, and they had to return to their homeland. They escaped the hotel as fast as possible, and “borrowed” a boat to get out to their ship, but they had found that there were boats and a helicopter surrounding it and examining it.

Reporter: This strange pirate-like ship has been sitting here for three days, and nobody has come to it, but we know somebody has been in it recently, footprints are everywhere, now we are examining the inside, because after finding a strange unnatural element on the deck, this ship could have many secrets worth finding out about!

Alex: What’s going on here?

Policeman: Oh please stay back, this is an investigation of a strange ship with strange elements, could be harmful.

Steve: Don’t worry, we know exactly what everything on here is.

Policeman: Is this YOUR ship?

Alex: Yes, we used it to travel through a portal to another dimension.

Policeman: Uh huh, okay, I may have to take you in.

Alex: Why would we MAKE UP a story if nobody would ever believe it?

Policeman: Well...

Alex: Wouldn’t we make it convincing?

Policeman: Fine, okay. Everyone, these two are claiming this is their ship, and they know what these strange materials are!

Reporter: Ah, could you tell us more about this vessel?

Steve: Well, we actually had it built about a week ago, and we sailed from an alternate dimension to get here.

Reporter: Yeah... So could you tell me what THIS is?

Steve: That's a water battle.

Reporter: You store water in glass bottles?

Steve: Yyyyyes.

Reporter: Okay, what about this?

Eye of Ender.

Alex: That's a- a glass eye, it's our uncle's.

Reporter: And how about this?

Alex: That's an emerald, actually that's natural.

Investigator: Hold up! Sheriff, I found something strange.

Sheriff: What would you call this?

The dragon egg.

Alex: That's a...

Sheriff: You better be telling some hard truth kids. I mean business!

Steve: It's a preserved egg!

...

Sheriff: A what?

Steve: Eggs can be preserved for many years, but this one got some sort of infection, hence the purple markings.

Sheriff: You aren't driving a very hard storytellin'.

Reporter: We'll be back after a quick commercial, and we may get a resolution by then.

Alex: Could y'all just clear out so we can get on with our day.

Sheriff: You don't give orders around here! Hey! Any new strange objects?

Investigator: I found a chest filled with eggs, and this one is purple.

Sheriff: Another infection, huh?

Investigator: How valuable is this thing?

Steve: Very, it's uhh, kind of weaponry.

Sheriff: That egg is weaponry??

Investigator: Nah, it's probably just a painted Easter egg. I bet it probably has confetti inside.

And he dropped it...

Steve: Whoops.

Alex and Steve began to encircle the ship.

Sheriff: You two get back here this minute!

Shulker: Glah! B-b-blah!

The shulker started sending lots of levitation orbs, and many of the people began floating.

Sheriff: Aliens!!!

Alex: Business huh?

Alex and Steve boarded, and the ship turned away, all the people began to fall into the water, and they saw the ship disappear into an invisible passage.

Reporter: Did you get that?

Cameraman: Yes, it's in the camera at the bottom of the ocean.

They got back through the portal, and made it to the shores.

Priest: You're back!

Steve: Mm hm.

Priest: Well, what did you see?

Steve: We had fun until we got some strange note, and a police force tried to take our ship.

Priest: Wait a note, about what?

Alex: Something about Guardian Moon showing us the... power of the cosmos?

Priest: ...Well ...did you enjoy the first part?

Alex: We want to know why you sent us on this... experience, what did you want us to learn about this odd world?

Elder: The world in which you stand on... is a LIE!! The world in which you traveled... is coming to danger! And the world in which you must return to... is controlled by great evil, and that is the world you must find your uncle, he does not exist in this world!

Steve: Excuse me, I quite obviously don't follow.

Elder: Not the one in which you are believing you exist on now, it's just like believing your uncle.

And he walked away...

Alex: Is- Was he speaking Latin?

Priest: Listen guys, we... we don't know what the heck is going on in your minds, we don't even know what your uncle has planned, we just know you need to wake up, because you are caught in your uncle's terror!

...

Steve: Okay, um, we're gonna go build a new house over there, um, we'll try to wake up though.

At a new construction site, Alex and Steve began laying floors and logs to create a new house.

Alex: So we're caught in our own uncle's terror, what does that mean?

Steve: Maybe it means we're under a spell we didn't know we were.

Alex: Well maybe, but can we just... wake up from it?

Steve: Well um... maybe?

Alex: Maybe we're being mind controlled through him, and he wants us to do something he is unable to do.

Steve: Like defeat the Guardian Moon?

Alex: Maybe. Or maybe to defeat the legendary passed Notch's brother, the master of destruction... Herobrine.

Steve: Oh yeah! That may be something we should look into, maybe learn about Herobrine, and see what we can find out.

Alex: Great! Also, the furnace should go there.

They went to the great underground library under the main library to look at all kinds of history and knowledge of their world's past, through many halls and passages were many stories and legends of great things beyond them, but at the very beginning of the timeline was the story of the 2 Great Titans who fabricated the world that mortals walk on... Notch and Herobrine.

Steve: "The Temple of Titans, the now uninhabited home of Notch and Herobrine, the passage to the Gold Gateways, and holds some of the greatest knowledge in the galaxy, but nobody ever dares to enter, as curses are said to infect all who pass, intended to protect the greatest secrets."

Alex: If only it was real. “The Infernal Oppression”, the single-celled prison located in the exact center of the Nether, only for the greatest villains, it has been vacant for 240 years.”

Steve: If only we had the strength to do that. This one... is blank. Alright, what’s that one?

Alex: “The Two Realms, the place of greatest opposite, the Two Realms are the inhabited places separated by a small stone marked barrier, and on each side is a great chaotic creature that comes together sometimes to create great power to defend, not to destroy.

Steve: Hmm, well I think that THIS could be that power, cause this is saying: “Congregated Generic Infinity, or CGI, the greatest power possible in the Universe, with the ability to do anything, as it can follow the power of infinite possibility. But with great power, the only people who can summon this chaos are those of the exact opposite power and greatness, or by those of the exact same blood, down to the last drop.

Alex: Gee, you think we could do that?

Steve: Well, maybe, but I don’t know if there's like some sort of a secret handshake... or wave... or I don’t know.

Alex: Oh look look look!

Steve: “Notch and Herobrine”! Nice! “2 brothers and the greatest of CGI holders in the dimension. These 2 resided in the Temple of Titans, but they were great guardians all over the world. Under unfortunate events, after Herobrine thought his destiny and his function was to destroy everything, he defeated Notch and stands currently in control, everything you stand on is now the kingdom of the Titanic man Herobrine, at least until he is defeated, many have tried, but the only people who are said to be able to stop him are “blah blah e blah blah e blah e.

Alex: Of course it’s all smudged! All we know is E E E!

Steve: Well we need to find those people and help them defeat Herobrine!

But Alex looked up and saw an image of the solar system, with all the planets aligned, and an extra planet at the end.

Alex: But first, we have a monster to stop!

The Moon.

Steve: Launch in 3, 2, 1.

VRRROOOMMM!!!

Alex: Let's get him!

But only 10 seconds from exiting the exosphere, they fell!

Alex: What's going on!?!

Steve: The battery's dead! We need a-

Suddenly a thunderstorm rolled in insanely fast, and the shuttle was struck by a massive chain of lightning, it powered the ship and shot the fuel level through the roof.

Steve: ...Jump Start.

Alex: What the Nether just happened??

Steve: I don't know but we have the power now, ignite!!

And they shot back up, stable and smooth.

Alex: Holy moly, that's far unnatural, some wizard or something just saved us!

Steve: Or not.

Speaker: Warning! Power overload!

Alex: Uh oh.

BAM!!!!

...

Steve: I've never seen so much happen in a matter of 90 seconds.

They walked out, and saw it was 20 meters in the ground, so they were stuck with no transport to the Moon.

Steve: Should we continue our house?

Alex: I'd rather move tables and beds than this thing.

Steve: ...This is the wackiest Wednesday I've ever seen.