

Chapter VI: ~~Cracking~~ Reaching the Code

Back at the Temple, the 5 headed off to crack the code of the 3 clues that Shade had given them to breach the new Endershadow base, as they headed to the Hall of History to search the scrolls, they saw Herobrine sitting at a desk, thinking.

Alex: Uncle Herobrine, what are you doing?

Herobrine: Null has deluded me.

Steve: What?

Herobrine: Null was the one person I could trust, and now his ambitions have outgrown mine.

Steve: What did you expect?

Herobrine: ...Don't take me for a fish on a hook!

Herobrine enclosed the study's entrance with obsidian and sat in the room silent.

Boss Steve: I feel bad for him, he never had his conclusion, I mean, except for in you two's misconception dreams.

Into the Hall of History, the five fanned out to search for a book equivalent to the hint.

Notch: What are you all doing in here?!

Rainbow Steve: We're just searching.

Notch: For what? Bedtime stories?

Light Steve: The Origin Shadow Steve by the name of Shade gave us 3 clues that can help us develop something to be able to destroy and pillage the Endershadow Base.

Notch: Shadow Steve spoke to you??

Light Steve: Yes, apparently he's trying to fight off the curse of loyalty to Null and Herobrine.

He gave us 3 clues, and we're seeking knowledge and clues in these texts. So if you want to call it bedtime stories, let's say the shadows and Null will be vanquished into eternal sleep once we have fulfilled this puzzle.

Notch: I see, well what did Shadow- or "Shade" say?

Boss Steve: Well, the clues were unfamiliar, number 1 was: Unrenewable since alteration 15w4-4a, made from only the purest precious treasure.

Notch: Purely Precious?

Boss Steve: Number 2 was: Shielding the skin and flesh of the purest nectar.

Notch: Skin and Flesh...

Boss Steve: And number 3 was: Only meaningful when given the purpose by one with the compatible purpose of perfection.

Notch: ...

Alex: But what struck us more is that Shade said he was fighting against his curse of loyalty.

Notch had no clue what the first 2 meant, but number 3... he wasn't sure he wanted to be correct about what that was.

Notch: So is this based in the Real World?

Rainbow Steve: I don't know. I imagine it's whatever "alteration 15w4-4a" means.

Notch: Well then I know what we need to do.

Light Steve: What?

Notch: The biggest book in the world, up there. It's an encyclopedia of literally everything!

Boss Steve: How the heck do you reckon we reach that?

Notch: Good point, I'll go get the giant ladder out of the basement.

Steve: Hold on, I have a more solid approach.

With Redstone circuitry and pistons, a slime block forced up with a person above them will fling them into the air, but this needed more slime blocks!

Steve: That's about even. Alright, someone push the button!

Alex: I'm not watching.

Not enough.

Steve: Almost!

Again.

Steve: Okay, I'm gonna pull it out.

Notch: Steve it's bigger than you!

Steve: Got- Woah!

POOF!!

Alex: Ouch.

Notch: 358 pounds of sheer knowledge and records of the entire world!

They opened the large book up to about halfway through, looking for the first clue. Since it involved treasure, they looked up the possible treasure of buried treasure.

Boss Steve: Did you put a password lock on the chapters?

Alex: Is it 1-2-3-4?

Notch: Actually it's 1-K-M Equal symbol 3.3 grilled chicken 2 refuel.

Steve: That's... actually very true!

After only 4 ½ minutes...

Alex: Gold! Soft, precious, treasure!

Light Steve: Well that was quite evident.

Alex: Truly pure, precious treasure.

Boss Steve: One was good, the next one'll be impossible.

Alex: So wait, is that already the answer to the first clue?

Steve: Yes, we got it!

Light Steve: Excellent! Now let's ascertain the second clue!

The next clue was "Shielding the skin and flesh of the purest nectar."

Steve: Next password?

Notch: It's um... Geometric circles aren't real.

Alex: ...That's a good one too!

Notch: Anyway, this chapter supposedly will give us any facts over every object that has nectar a.k.a natural sugar in it.

4 ½ HOURS later.

Boss Steve: Snore

Steve: Let's make a Venn diagram, for which have skin, which have flesh, and which have both.

...

Light Steve: Not a chorus fruit, not a carrot. It's between bread, pumpkin pie, apples, maybe a potato, and watermelon.

Steve: Wait! Gold! Gold is compatible with apples! The skin and flesh shielded by the power of gold!

Alex: Steve, even if that's correct, golden apples only help you heal faster, and they hardly give you any protection. Much less than protection 4 diamond armor.

Light Steve: She's right, then again we still need the 3rd clue.

Steve: But this book won't show us something "only meaningful when given the purpose by one with the compatible purpose of perfection". Like what even could that be?

Notch: It's me.

Everyone looked at him in confusion, as they questioned what that meant, it snapped for them!

Boss Steve: The biblical 5-minute Blessing?

Notch: That's the compatible purpose of perfection.

All except Notch: YES!!

Light Steve: Perfection is unattainable, with the exception of those who uphold CGI!

Notch: Right.

Rainbow Steve: Why didn't you tell us at first?

Notch: I would be jeopardizing the entire dimension, evil could irresponsibly wield Creation with infinite sources!

Boss Steve: Wait, you know the actual item Shade spoke of!

Notch: Yes, I do.

Steve: Well? What is it?

Notch: The 5-minute Blessing is called the Notch Apple.

Alex: How does it work?

Notch: Sigh

Notch kicked the bookshelf behind him, and a book with a picture of a glowing gold apple fell in his hands.

Notch: You should recognize that this is the most influential factor in history, even bedrock armor bows to the Notch Apple. Now listen up! The Notch Apple... founded by Notch himself in late 2012. Among the sorrow for a zombie-infected villager, a teardrop of Notch fell on the golden fruit, and it abruptly burst into a purplish glow, After restoring the villager with a natural golden apple, Notch took the unfamiliar apple to the laboratory. Once discovering that a typical golden apple responds to my DNA to create this new apple, I gave it to a villager. The villager gained approximately 25,000 health points, and was able to regenerate at a rate of a full life's health every single second! This apple is enough to power one's body and soul for 200 lifetimes. Everyone else just stood there with wide eyes.

Notch: I intended the use of Notch Apples for all villagers to keep them safe from zombies and sieges, but soon Herobrine found out about them, then I was evoked by Null, I felt the recipe should be kept for hiding. Plus, the effect only lasts for 5 minutes.

Steve: I still think we already won.

Boss Steve: Yes, that is 180% of what we need to overpower the Ender-shadow base!

Light Steve: We should start ascertaining the other 2 ingredients so we can raid the base and imprison Null and the shadows!

Alex: Remember though, we need the worthiest gold and the purest apple!

Rainbow Steve: Well, I know who could advise us with the gold!