

Chapter XXII: Fulfillment of a Nightmare Part 3

At the Minecraft RICC, Alex and Steve supercharged the Rune of Space, just so they could see which of the nearby dimensions had RICCS. Then, they could get started.

Steve: Oblixi, Honzini, Javeeqla, Wyphikla, and Avogmu. We need 2 more dimensions.

Alex: Alright, and remember, we don't start here, we end here, and we end with the Space Rune.

Steve: Right, otherwise we won't get back.

Alex: Great, hey it looks like Tubodru has one.

Alex and Steve studied for hours, but chances are, it would all be for nothing... the C-MOAE was within very close proximity, but so was "Spring"...

CaptainSparklez: He's in. She's in. He's in. They're in. ...Time for a rebellion.

CaptainSparklez joined the game

DanTDM joined the game

PrestonPlayz joined the game

PopularMMOs joined the game

UnspeakableGame joined the game

Jelly joined the game

Skeppy joined the game

Mumbo Jumbo joined the game

SSundee joined the game

Dream joined the game

MrBeastGaming joined the game

Technoblade joined the game

And many, many more...

...

Alex: Eureka!

Steve: ...Really? Nobody has said that word in 300 years.

Alex: ...What about the people that live in the dimension of Eureka?

Steve: Wait you found another one?

Alex: Uh huh, it has 2 RICCs!

Steve: 2? Wow. Well there we go! We have our charter!

Alex: Great. Now uh, which Rune should we use first?

Steve: Let's do Darkness, that's probably not gonna be too helpful.

Alex: Yeah, that's a good idea.

Steve: Like we're definitely not gonna need to turn off the sun.

Alex: Exactly.

Back at the Temple, Notch remained on the desk, collapsed from stimulant overdose...

Chaotic creature: Aye, the Rose has met the springtime sun, let it not squander its rebirth.

Rejoice, my friends! Rejoice!

A truly disturbing chain of events was unfolding, the world seemed to constantly get smaller, but so much more could happen... including the solidification of Bloodlust...

Herobrine: Where are they?

Wu-Koan: I cannot help 2 different kinds of people within the same day.

Entity 303: I tracked them here and I'm getting anything new!

Wu-Koan: ...The children came asking about Bloodlust, they had knowledge of it like they'd been studying for years, you come looking for things that can be found with a little commitment.

Null: Uh, excuse me, I have an IQ of approximately 135, I can say the alphabet backwards in less than-

Wu-Koan: Not brave enough, not humble enough. Go, you cannot handle my help.

Herobrine raised the FotWS sword.

Herobrine: Where... are they?

Wu-Koan: Heh heh, do it, send me to the spirit realm, my soul will never be entangled in the blackmail of uncultured menaces.

Slash.

Herobrine: Nobody calls me uncultured.

Alex and Steve were in the process of charging the Rune of Darkness, but the RICC had suddenly shut off...

Steve: Crap! One of the batteries fell out and now it's stuck under the GPU.

Alex: Oh, well maybe it pops out?

Steve: No, it's soldered in there nice and tight.

Alex: ...Wait, there's a toolkit right there, maybe there's a pair of tweezers in there!

Steve: Good, check.

Alex: Band-aids, scotch tape, eyes expand, a paper airplane kit... no tweezers.

Steve: Dang it!

Alex: How about a screwdriver?

Steve: A flat-head might work.

Alex: Ooh, it's a phil's but, try anyway.

They unscrewed the grate that guarded the GPU cooling fan, and retrieved the battery, but as Steve lifted it up, the FotWS sword came flying and sliced it right in half.

Steve: Eyes expand again

Herobrine: Excellent.

Alex and Steve were silent.

Null: Thank you for sending us through that haunted forest, I've seen so many smiles.

Alex: Uhh...

Entity 303 lassoed the Rune of Darkness from the center pedestal.

Entity 303: And also, I had to use the hell of my head to get us here, and I don't appreciate that!

Herobrine: ...Again, I'm sorry it was like this, I really hope that Bloodlust will have some respect for you, I mean you survived throughout its greatest punishments.

Steve: ...That's not right.

Herobrine: Bloodlust has given us a destiny and we-

Alex: Bloodlust isn't real!!

...

Null: That's a load of crap.

Steve: No it's true! The old woman told us how Bloodlust isn't a real Matrix member, it's a form of chaos that corrupted the real 3rd member of the Matrix, Disease.

Entity 303: ...That's an even bigger load of crap.

Alex: It's true!

Null: Yeah right! I mean it only works if you say Bloodlust, it's not like "I conjure the Matrix of all Evil Darkness, Death, and Disease", heh.

CRACCC!! And the portal to Darkest Order opened... and the sins emerged.

Bloodlust: I congratulate you, you have acquired the Rune. Extirpate it, and your corrupted cognitive intelligence will be vindicated.

Herobrine: Gladly.

Alex: Wait. Do you realize how terrible you're gonna feel once your minds return to rationality? Bloodlust might pardon you, but every single living being in the Universe will see your vile offenses when they look into the eyes of a towering red figure that won't let them see much more.

Herobrine: We're leaving, once Bloodlust goes off, we're taking the Runes and going billions of miles away from the chaos.

Steve: ...Well you may be out of the way of chaos, but you won't ever be out of the way of the past.

Null: Okay that line has been used way too many times!

Steve: Does that make it any less applicable?

Entity 303: Here just break the Rune!

Herobrine: Hold on hold on, we still have 140 geologic hours. You know, it's been almost 10 years on Earth, more than 700 years here, but I remember... The day you were born was the day before my destiny was confirmed. I will say you were quite the distraction, but I do appreciate the challenge, it made me want to work harder and harder to accomplish a feat like this.

Alex: Why are you proud of this??

Null: We've been given an opportunity! If you get offered a chance to do something incredible by the spirits of all the Universe, it's not something everyone gets a chance to do!

Herobrine: Sorry guys, but this is the purpose that the Universe has given us. We're seizing our confidential destiny.

Loud voice: ...Too bad, the flower blooms at moon's peak.

Avengers theme song but it's not blocks* Holy freakin 5h1t!! The camera zooms out of the view to see the supposed God of all Existence with Rainbow Steve and Boss Steve alongside him upon a pillar. Down below, CaptainSparklez- the old robot Herobrine, led hundreds of Minecraft*

Professionals. And up above, Light Steve, Light Alex, and Shade led the 11 Solar Guardians from the dream... which had become a reality. However God was alive, it was a true miracle, I guess Nothowerstetire had become spring, a renewal... a flicker of hope.

C-MOAE: Oh *. (bleeped)

God of Existence: Today is the day that the rain of terror ends, it only takes the bloom of a single flower to prove that the next year will be full of life, peace, and equanimity. Do it- Kill the flower, so what, the world has spoken, prosperity will exceed.

Rainbow Steve expelled all 9 colors of white light and shattered the RICC, reeling in the other 7 Runes.

Alex: See doesn't it feel bad?

Herobrine: Uhh...

Bloodlust: Time advances, extirpate the Rune.

God's core on his chest expelled a glowing blue ray of... I really don't know. But Entity 303's strength could compare, the revolvers had all 8 Runes. Then, God lined all 8 side by side, with Righteousness in front, he reached through all 8! Then, pulled back. The Righteousness Rune glows with light and the others were dull, then God used the Rune to expel a lasso to close the doorway to the Darkest order, now Bloodlust had no escape. All Runes regained full potential.

Null: What've you done!?

Steve: That's the least of your worries. What's coming is gonna scare the hell out of you.

Alex and Steve came over to the rebellious side.

Herobrine: Fine! ...ALL THE MONSTERS OF THIS LAND, COME ON OUT TO LEND A HAND!!! HEROBRINE NEEDS AN ARMY OF PERIL, TO DEFEAT ALL MY THREATS IN ALL OF THIS WORLD!!!!

*Thousands of Nether monsters had sided along with the C-MOAE, however, the sins remained unresponsive, like they were confused. *More Avengers theme but it's not blocks

God: ...LET THE REVOLUTION... Begin.

All rebels: Charging cheers

All Monsters: Assorted grunts, groans, cries, and rattling of bones

So many incredible forces were thrown, the Minecraft Youtubers were professional sword and bow-fighters, the Solar Guardians commanded the powers of the 4 elements, along with many more powerful storm forces. Boss Steve turned monsters into ores and used a pickaxe on them. Alex and Steve along with Shade and the Light couple wielded all eight Runes like against the military before, and as for God, he waited for multiple hundred mobs to come within his range, then lifted a wall of bedrock. His core expelled an ultra-powerful laser vaporizing all the enemies.

Null: If you didn't notice, we're losing!

Herobrine: No we're not, we just have to keep going! There's always a-
BOOM!!

Herobrine: Alright. New plan!

The fight began to come to a close, 80% of the monsters were dead, Herobrine guided them all toward Steve, currently possessing the Space Rune.

Steve: Guys! I don't know what Herobrine is trying to pull, but every single one of these demons is coming after me!

God: Back him up everyone, I'll take care of Herobrine.

Entity 303 used the FotWS sword to try and snag other Runes. Gaining the Runes of Life, Matter, and once he snagged the Rune of Darkness, he shoved the sword right through it.

Darkness: Shade! You've failed! Revocation!

Shade: What?

Shade was absorbed by Darkness, who couldn't leave. Unfortunately, Rainbow Steve couldn't hold the Righteousness Rune's lasso in place forever. Thankfully, Bloodlust would be kept busy.

Bloodlust: Congratulations to you. Now, disseminate the potential of evil.

Steve: No!

Entity 303 had snatched the Rune of Space, and now Herobrine could revive what started the horror almost 9 years ago.

God: Herobrine stop!

All the monsters froze.

God: Don't kill everyone here just for a menace like Bloodlust!

Herobrine: ...I don't think you understand the gravity of my power. I think it's time that you understand what forces are conducting my life.

Up above ground, a portal was summoned under a massive rock, but the rock certainly had more to offer than that. As the chunk of stone fell from above ground into the Nether, people could see... It was the red crystal that infected Herobrine with Bloodlust!

Bloodlust: Touch the stone. (Whispering echoes) Feel the stimulation.

The Solar Guardians recognized the threat and escaped before the hypnosis of the crystal could affect them, but everyone else was persuaded by the crystal except for God, they all walked toward it like zombies, with this many victims, Bloodlust could fabricate simply by placing a hand on the crystal. Since Rainbow Steve dropped the Rune of Righteousness, the Darkest Order doorway reopened.

God: Don't trust it, it's a lie!! Stop!!

So many hands were about to be placed on the crystal, even though it wouldn't do much harm, since all victims would be emancipated once Bloodlust had fabricated. But above ground, the sun had just peaked! And Alex and Steve were free of the persuasion.

Steve: Oh my. What was that rush?

Alex: You felt it too.

Steve: Did we just get shot or something?

Flashback!

Notch: I realized you wouldn't learn to control it until 91 hundred and 25 days, AKA your quarter centennial.

Alex and Steve: Gasp Our 25th birthday!

Notch: Alex, you were made with the power to transform into any living Minecraft creature. But Steve, you were created to split and duplicate yourself and your surroundings.

...Alex and Steve ducked down throughout the crowd, and ran to hide from the horrifying infected.

Steve: Alright, if you turn into some simple-minded zombie, I will have to kill you.

Within miniscule concentration, Alex became a zombie pigman.

Steve: Alright!

Alex: I can still talk too!

Steve: Okay, now hold on, if I can duplicate my surroundings...

With even less concentration, Steve turned Alex into 10 zombie pigmen!

Steve and 10 Alexes: Yes!!

Bloodlust was in the process of fabricating, it certainly wouldn't take long. All the victims were slowly depleting their illness potential... Alex and Steve could stop Bloodlust now, but they wanted to do it while the victims were still in their corrupted mind, so they could all be shown what a crap destiny they were all being led into.

Alex: Under, around.

Steve: No wait it was-

Alex: Crap! Ugh, we'll have to rely on our simpler powers.

Steve: No, there's no way we can kill Bloodlust without learning, let's try one more time.

Alex: Alright.

Together, twist, release... turn, together, rise... release, turn, let down... start low, lift, and pull!

Golden strands came from their hands, they kept pulling. Once they were quite long, it took almost all their strength to put the ends together, and once they did, an incredible symbol formed... the lemniscate! It took more concentration than any other task ever! They couldn't even open their eyes! The power of Infinity at the tips of their fingers... and they practiced using it on a single block.

Alex: Did it work?

They opened their eyes slowly.

Steve: Yes!

Alex: Oh my god! Oh!

Steve: ...Oh my gosh we just turned a block of flammable stone into a supercomputer!

Alex: Holy crap.

Steve: Well there you have it...

Alex: Let's go finish this. For dad.